Holmatro

Product information

Holmatro hydraulic equipment and systems are used for rescue, industrial and special tactics operations around the world. These types of applications demand reliable tools under all circumstances. To make sure that Holmatro users can fulfil their specialized tasks, the company strives to be the best-in-class industry market leader by using game changing technology.

Mastering power is at the heart of Holmatro's vision. Common to all the products is the basic fact that only controlled power can be put to use effectively. Holmatro tools allow their users to apply the high hydraulic forces in a practical, controlled and safe way, even if they are used in the most unfavourable circumstances.
